Family Reach welcomes new LiFT Network Member Megan's Wings

Megan's Wings, founded in 2005, is a nonprofit in Southern California. It's mission is to help families dealing with pediatric cancer.

Boston, MA [September 1st, 2020] — Family Reach, a national organization focused on providing financial support to families facing cancer, is welcoming Megan's Wings to its LiFT Network.

"Megan's Wings is excited to join the LiFT Network to expand our programming by offering Financial Planning and Education Services to the pediatric oncology families we serve in Southern California," said Kim Savage, Co-Founder of Megan's Wings. "We also look forward to the collaboration with other similar nonprofits to generate ideas that support best practices while serving the cancer community nationwide!"

Megan's Wings was established in January 2005 by the Savage Family in memory of their daughter, Megan, who lost her battle with Leukemia on April 2, 2003. Megan's Wings exists to help pediatric cancer families navigate through their journey with childhood cancer. They help families through their Patient Aid Program, temporary housing for families called Megan's Home, their Adopt a Family Program, Special Events and Hospital Service Program, and their Research Program.

Megan's Wings is a non-profit 501c3 assisting families across Southern California through the Children's Hospitals and Cancer Centers. They are volunteer-based and offer several aid programs which serve families within the cancer community. Their funding comes from corporate sponsorships and grants, individual contributions and fundraising events.

Megan's Wings will support Family Reach's Financial Treatment Program. The program was developed to reach patients with support before they hit critical financial breaking points.

Family Reach's Director of the LiFT Network, Joanna Scott applauded the announcement.

"Megan's Wings is an incredible organization," she said. "We are very pleased to welcome them to The LiFT Network, a network that continues to grow and to flourish. Collaboration is the only way we will continue to reach more families with critical support and create long term solutions. We are so excited to have such a thoughtful partner in Megan's Wings."
